

Continuing Education/Continuing Medical Education (CE/CME)

Coping and Pain Management in Pediatric Spinal Fusion Patients

October 19, 2022 to October 19, 2024

Presentation purpose:

This course will educate nursing staff on supporting patients in coping post-operatively from a spinal fusion via a behavioral health approach. This includes helping the patients cope with pain and anxiety related to the acute postoperative time period. The course will be taught by Dr. Marcelle Friedman, a psychology fellow at the Dell Medical School.

Learning objectives:

- Learners will be able to understand the importance and impact of pain and anxiety in postoperative spine patients
- Learners will be able to understand non-pharmacological interventions for pain and anxiety in postoperative spine patients
- Learners will be able to implement at least one non-pharmacological intervention for pain and anxiety in postoperative spine patients

Faculty/Course Director/Planners:

Ascension has selected all faculty participating in this activity. It is the policy of Ascension that all CE/CME planning committees, faculty, authors, editors, and staff disclose relationships with commercial interests upon nomination or invitation of participation.
